

We support haveing the option to choose which channels we want to pay for. There are too many sports channels we don't want to see and other educational or premium movie channels we do want access to, paying on an individual basis and not as a bundle of channels.